Acts 17:1-8

God's people are a different kind of people when compared to the people of the world.

Going Market States of the Flow

God's people are a different kind of people when compared to the people of the world.

From the beginning, God's people have been called to be different than those of the world around them.

As a different kind of people, we often attract attention because we "don't fit" in with the world.

Courage and conviction are demanded if we want to stand up against the world's scrutiny.

If we will embrace God's different standard, then we will receive a different reward in the next life.
